Many people have a tendency to acquire certain recurring health problems during their vacation from allergies to migraines to ulcers. Personally I would never get sick while in my normal work routine. However when I went on vacation and let my hair down so to speak, I would commonly get a cold or the flu. This was obviously a bummer to both my family and me. Recognizing this pattern I was able to stop it by proactively taking some immune enhancers and the King Bio Cold & Flu formula preventively. Know your personal formulas and keep them by your side when traveling.

Having a nice King Bio Natural Medicine armamentarium with you always comes in handy when traveling. Besides yourself, friends and family, there is always an opportunity to help other people you meet when traveling. It's always rewarding to help other people with health issues wherever you may go!
